

The GW Digital Humanities Institute and GW Libraries Present

DH Showcase

Featuring participants from Classics, English, GW Libraries, History, Japanese, Jewish Cultural Arts, and the US Holocaust Memorial Museum

Each participant (or team) will present a Digital Humanities (DH) project or endeavor (in various stages of production). We hope to open up conversations about methods, tools, challenges, questions, and possibilities of DH projects--and also allow participants to connect with others who share similar interests (across their respective fields, backgrounds, or academic disciplines). Our definition of DH is very broad and entails anything from databases and tools to blogs and creative digital art: any kind of endeavor at the interface of the arts and humanities and digital media.

TO REGISTER, visit <http://bit.ly/1EVIUKI>

Free and open to the public
20 February 2015
12:30-3 PM
#GWDoesDH

International Brotherhood of Teamsters Research Center
7th Floor, Gelman Library
2130 H St NW

Co-sponsored by the Office of Cross-Disciplinary Collaboration

